

As we have closed the second quarter, the Branch has started a new term with the new main Committee.

The first half of the year seems to have quickly raced through the first six months the summer break will be very quickly upon us.

The highlight of the last quarter is the election of the new Branch Committee held in the Annual General Meeting on 26 April 2018.

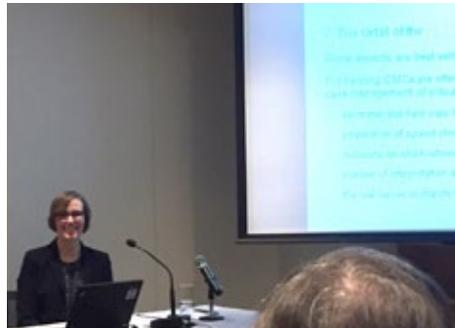

We are also excited with the 13th Annual Winnie Whittaker Memorial Lecture, due to be held in August. The Branch and the YMG has arranged a series of evening talks with various notable speakers, details of these events can be found inside this Newsletter.

There is much to share in this edition and we hope you would enjoy. The forthcoming Branch events programme can be found on the back page of the Newsletter, and an up-to-date programme can be found on www.ciarbasia.org.

“Proactive case management (PO1: The end or the beginning?” by Professor Janet Walker

21 May 2018, Hong Kong

The Branch had the honour of hearing from Professor Janet Walker, Chartered Arbitrator, on her thoughts and experience in relation to the procedural aspects of running international arbitrations, at the Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre.

Proactive case management commences from the early procedural meeting, CMC or directions hearing following which the first procedure order (PO1) will be prepared and issued. All, if not most, of the procedure should be capsulated in PO1 (which will be first of possibly of many). The timing of the first hearing and issue of PO1 is everything. Janet considered whether premature determinations of directions (via arbitration agreements) were helpful, but reflected that in her experience much should be left to the arbitrator themselves. PO1 should be a complete framework for the arbitration, and if possible the date for hearing be agreed with the procedural timetable fixed by reference to that date. Janet highlighted a recent revision of what in her view was one of the great innovations – the 2012 UNCITRAL Notes on Organising Arbitral Proceedings. Janet went as far as saying it was the best thing since ‘sliced bread’! She recognised that not everything could be addressed in PO1 and there were obvious elements of procedure which would need to be considered later in the arbitration such as details for the evidentiary hearing, fixing the sequence of openings and closings and issues to be addressed at the hearing. Educating the tribunal prior to the hearing is fundamental and tools to assist in this include the ‘Reed Retreat’ and ‘Kaplan Opening’.

Overall, the event was well-received and attended by approximately 45 members.

One Day Seminar on Contract Management 2018

5 May 2018, Hong Kong

The YMG of the CIArb (EAB), in collaboration with four other young professional groups: CIBSE-YEN, HKIE-YMC, HKIS-YSG & ICE HKA G&S ("the Group"), jointly organized a One Day Seminar on Contract Management on 5 May 2018.

This annual flagship event has been jointly organized by young professionals from various institutions since 2004 and the YMG is honoured to have invited legal and construction professionals to give remarkable presentations on 7 different topics in relation to construction contract management.

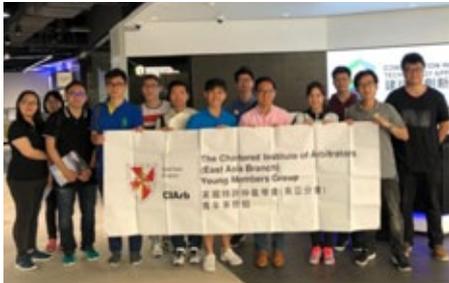

Amongst other 5 speakers, Mr Peter Clayton and Mr Hinson Cheung presented two different topics respectively on behalf of CIArb (EAB) YMG: "How Hong Kong's Proposed Security of Payment Legislation Will Change Contract Administration" and "Challenging Arbitration Award in Hong Kong".

Around 270 members and 30 helpers of the organizing institutions attended the One Day Seminar. It was a pleasure for the YMG to work with other young professional groups to co-organize this seminar. The YMG would like to express sincere gratitude to all speakers for their valuable sharing in the One Day Seminar.

"35 Years of Hong Kong Construction Law ... in 30 minutes!" by Mr Vincent Connor

26 April 2018, Hong Kong

The Branch had the honour of hearing from Mr Vincent Connor, on "35 Years of Hong Kong Construction Law... in 30 Minutes" (or so) at The Hong Kong Club, following the AGM.

Vincent took the opportunity, in Pinsent Masons' 35th year of advising clients in Hong Kong and Asia, to have a look back at significant cases in Hong Kong, which have shaped the way we view and resolve disputes. Looking through the 'construction law view-master' Vincent took the audience on a trip around Hong Kong to look at some of the landmark decisions. The journey began at Plover Cove with the Mitsui Construction v A-G of HK (1986) a case on interpretation; next to Tsimshatsui with the Jumbo King case (1999) another case on interpretation; also in Tsimshatsui with the Wharf Properties v Eric Cumine Associates (1991) to consider global claims; then to the New Territories with the Mariner Hotels case (2007) which considered completion; also in the New Territories the Phillips v A-G of HK case (1993) provided support for calculations used in the process for determining genuine pre-estimates of loss for liquidated damages clauses; and finally back to Tai Po with the Chun Wo v Metta Resources case (2015), which considered a whole host of construction law issues but importantly the way in which disputes are resolved.

Overall, the event was well-received and attended by approximately 50 members.
